

John Crouch
Director of Public Affairs
Hearth, Patio and Barbecue Association

John Crouch is the HPBA's Director of Public Affairs. Mr. Crouch has been a member of the HPBA Government affairs Department for over 19 years. Currently he focuses on woodstove changeout programs and on the industrie's issues and relationships with Air Quality agencies, including the USEPA, as well as many State, Local, and Tribal organizations.

Mr. Crouch was the Woodstove Industries on-site manager of the first "whole town" Changeout program in North America, in Crested Butte, Colorado in 1988-1990 and is now coordinating the Changeout in Libby, Mt. He has also participated as an author & session chair in Air and Waste Management sessions related to Fine Particulates.

Mr. Crouch holds a Bachelor of Science degree from California State Polytechnic University in Pomona.